

Title: "Laser fabrication of quantum technologies"

Femtosecond laser processing can be used to form quantum emitters and interconnects in material platforms such as silicon, diamond, gallium nitride, silicon carbide and hexagonal boron nitride. In this talk, I will present our latest work on how laser writing can be applied to fabricate quantum technologies for quantum sensing and information.